I woke up pretty nervous this morning. I was worrying about this day since that one horrible night. To today is November 25. I looked to my left through a window. The sky wasn't so sunny that had to mean something wasn't going right. Today is November 25.

Before I I've been in the past. People make mistakes and learn from them, that's just part of growing up. I believe God let me... told me I was wrong and that if I didn't realize it at the time, I would learn it on my own in a more difficult way.

I am a hard-headed person, and I don't believe

To make these big changes in my life I'm working on a mindset that is positive toward myself and others. I believe that positive thinking can leads me to a more healthy life.

There is no place for criminals in a women's home. We shouldn't even have custody of children in this type of place. We need and should all know the right way to behave. We should have the support and the resources to find the way to the right path. I myself have learned a lot. I speak about it in school and try to pass it on to others. I would say I'm doing better. I'm working on it.

The Change I Want In My Life

NATASHA J.

If I could, I would change what happened to get me locked up in the first place. Also, my nephews mostly deal with motorists/selling how or when was going to happen. I wish I could have stayed in school and done all the good things in my life. I'm working on my future. I don't want to stay here and end up like my brother. I want to do my best to change it. I can't do it on my own. People spread gossip about me, and it just ends up getting in trouble. When I stop, they'll just read all these people. I'm trying to do my best to change it, and I can't do it on my own. People spread gossip about me, and I end up getting in trouble. When I stop, they'll just read all these people.
